Blue

My favorite color is blue.

I think blue sounds like ocean waves crashing against the shore and pulling the sand from under your feet, trying to drag you away.

I think blue looks like the sky on a sunny summer day with the sun smack dab in the middle looking down at you with desire to grow arms and pick you up into the sky.

I think blue smells like fresh Forget-me nots with fully bloomed Tulips all around in the middle of May.

I think blue tastes like a million big, juicy, plump blueberries ripey picked from a big patch.

I think blue feels like a thousand cozy, warm, and cuddly blankets on top of me.
